El Segundo's Own Tim Myers a Hit in San Diego Next is Santa Barbara Live

El Segundo, CA – July 26, 2007- Following local appearances at Suzie's Bar & Grill in Hermosa Beach, Texas Lucy's in Torrance and Boulevard Music in Culver City, where he introduced his new CD "Outta Nowhere", Tim Myers was invited to entertain at the Annual Media and Publicity Luncheon of the California Bowling Writers which was held at the Town & country Hotel Resort in San Diego on June 2, 2007.

After being introduced, singer/songwriter, Myers opened with the song that launched his career, "New Strip Mall" followed by several new songs including his latest creation "Crazy Cowboy Song".

The audience was very receptive, with one writer describing Tim's music as awesome. When interviewed, Tim was quoted as saying "I have made a conscious effort of being me and try to reflect who I am through my music. With every new song I write I'm expressing myself nakedly and honestly and at the same time I'm experimenting with my voice and my guitar".

And I have found I love performing live. Playing onstage is so different from playing in the studio. It's physical and tangible at the same time. Energy comes from the audience and sometime your music may take on a life of it's own.

Come see for yourself during "Old Spanish Days" in Santa Barbara. Singer/Songwriter Tim Myers will be performing August 3, 2007 at 1:00 PM and will feature Dave Romeo on drums and John Fellers on guitar.
